Product description:

Shine and suppleness

The vegan Verbena Shampoo gives all hair types natural shine and suppleness, leaving a subtle scent of fresh verbena with notes of cypress and cardamom. Herbal ingredients thoroughly cleanse the hair meanwhile organic oils protect the hair and scalp from drying out.

Shea butter, olive oil and cocoa butter

A combination of shea butter, olive oil and cocoa butter nourishes and moisturises the hair after cleansing; this gives hair a natural shine and makes it easier to comb, without weighing it down.

The Verbena Shampoo cleans the hair without leaving any residue and is free of synthetic fragrances, colours and preservatives, silicones, parabens and microplastics. The shampoo is economical, easy to use as soap and lathers well.

Verbena Shampoo is the perfect travel companion, alongside being a good alternative for your trip to the swimming pool.

Waterless, plastic-free and reduced to the max!

In our minimalist WE REDUCE! range, we go one step further to help the environment by abstaining from unnecessary plastic packaging and water as an ingredient. Our Verbena Shampoo, which contains neither water nor plastic and is packaged in environmentally friendly grass paper, is sure to be a sustainable companion on your travels. No water also means less weight, which in turn leads to huge savings in CO2 during transportation.

Tips from Gabi Köberl:

Lather with warm water in your hand or directly onto wet hair, distribute evenly in the hair and then rinse thoroughly.

Store in a dry place after use!

- Perfect for travelling: Light luggage is always in fashion – whether camping, bathing or hiking holidays. The low weight and reduced size of the firm shampoo pays off. And anyone who still flies is happy to have any liquid that does not have to be carried in a plastic bag or provides for funny leaked shampoo surprises in the suitcase.
- Waterless likes it dry: To make the most of the yield of the washes, it is best to dry them thoroughly after each contact with water.
